SIR’s coding resources
IR revenue cycle and fundamentals on-demand course provides education to interventional radiologists, IR clinical technologists, and administrators on the revenue cycle. The course teaches you how to apply Medicare policies to IR practices. How different payment methods are used for reimbursement based on your practice type. How devices are bundled into IR procedures or packaged in the overall reimbursement and how your contract with the facility and payors plays a role in reimbursement for the services you provide. As well as a high-level overview of how insurances determine policy around coverage, prior authorization, coding, payer edits, denials, and appeals. Self-assessment CME and participation credits can be converted into CEUs for medical coders with RCC or RCCIR credentials after completion of the course. Purchase this valuable course here.

Carrier advocacy coverage letters (SIR member-only)
SIR’s carrier advocacy workgroup developed evidence-based coverage letters to help our members overturn carrier policy, denied authorizations, and denied claims. Log in to download the letters
