SIR Business Institute exclusive live webinar series

This mini-webinar series is designed to give a sneak peek into the standalone course session. The first webinar of this series is “Common Legal Issues” (Join us Nov. 8). This is a not-to-be-missed opportunity to gain valuable insights and expertise on noncompete and pseudo-exclusive contracts from industry expert speaker Jason Griess, Partner at Benesch Law.

Second Business Institute webinar topic (Join us Dec. 6): “Revenue cycle management,” focusing on best strategies for private practice, including optimization and utilization of non-physician practitioners (NPP), reimbursement changes, and their potential to impact IR practice in the future and how we can improve our IR practice’s coding and documentation to maximize reimbursement.

Practice Development Committee webinar

The Practice Development Committee hosted their fall webinar series, “How can IR divisions adapt to changing response time and on-site requirements for interventional radiologists.” The webinar featured Amit Gupta, MD, FSIR; Thomas Tullius, Jr, MD; Raisa Jehan Durrani, MD; Anthony Andres DePalma, MD; Nikhil Bhagat, MD; Martin Geza Radvany, MD, FSIR. Building connections and going virtual with the Small and Rural Practice Committee

In the fall issue of IR Quarterly, members of the Small and Rural Practice Committee share insights on setting up your practice, making new connections and utilizing telehealth in a post-COVID world.

Dialing in: Arun Jagannathan, MD, discusses the opportunities and challenges of utilizing telehealth to expand the reach of small or rural IR practices—from the possibility of second opinion services to the need for robust informed consent.

Practice planning: Neal Khurana, MD, presents the universal principles that ensure high-quality care in a new practice, as well as strong community ties and referral partnerships.

Short term work long term possibilities: Sonali Mehandru, MD, recognizes the advantage of a flexible contingent workforce. Interventional radiologists may seek progressive strategic intermittent or temporary staffing in medium to small and rural hospitals for flexibility, especially when collaborating and learning from different IR practices in a geographic region.
